SHOE REPAIRING

Once in a while we take this space to tell those who do not know that we have a special department for SHOE REPAIRING. Readers who have already tried our REPAIRING DEPARTMENT are the best advertisers for us and we are thankful for the ever increasing business. In the first place:—only No. 1 grade leather is used—that means longer wear from our repairing. Secondly:—only skilled workmen are employed—this means clean neat work. Thirdly:—by the employ of many and with the latest equipment in machinery, you are assured of prompt service. Fourth and most important thing is price. Consistent with the quality of the material used, you will find our charges low.

Return postage paid on all out of town work amounting to $1.00 or more.

At a recent meeting of the Executive Committee of the Farm Bureau, it was voted to hold the Annual Farm Bureau and Grange Field Meeting this year as in previous years.

Mr. Reese, Manager of the Government Farm, has again offered us the use of their buildings and grounds for this event and it is expected that the meeting will be held during the latter part of the second week in August.

LAFLEUR OUSTS COLLEGE

Grammar School Corporation, in writing, bearing date February 20, 1867, wherein said corporation was given an equal voice with the members of the Prudential Committee in matters pertaining to curriculum, terms of admission, and the engagement of teachers, in consideration of said Corporation giving its assets to said district, and

Whereas conditions have arisen which render it advisable that said district terminate the relation existing by reason of said agreement, therefore be it

Resolved, that the Moderator, appoint a committee of three persons, residents of the said district, to take such initial steps as they may deem advisable towards an amicable termination of said relation, and to report at a special meeting, duly warned for said purpose.

In his speech of advocacy of the resolution, Mr. LaFleur first dwelt upon the history of the close ties between the district and the college. Fifty years ago when the high school was founded, the college gave a perpetual lease of the site of the grade school to the district in return for an interest in the management of the higher department of the school. The college members of the District Joint Committee have equal voice in the choice of curriculum, of teacher appointments and terms of admission. On the argument that the assets to the district from this college meddling have been only the use of the land and an average of $151.13 in money each year in comparison with the $24,000 burden of the taxpayers LaFleur said that the equities were so unequal that the district should terminate the agreement.

The speaker paid high tribute to the integrity and honesty of purpose of the members of the Joint Committee and said that it was further from his intention to reflect upon their sincerity. But, he said, for the past five or six years there has been a feeling on the part of the Prudential Committee, a feeling of stress and friction prompted by the appreciation of the disproportion of the college share in school administration in comparison with its financial aid. "We do not want to be the training ground of Columbia University of New York City," he said. Practice teaching has not been a great success elsewhere. Did the college have a design in fostering their teacher training on us? he asked. To quote Dr. Collins' letter, the college has been now obliged to seek in another way for the benefit it sought in our high school. For five years the committee had disapproved of practice teachers. The matter has been threshed out and our conclusion reached for the breach of relations with the college.

"Our school is one of the finest in the state, in spite of the damaging things that have been written about it," he said. And in the next breath, "The school has shortcomings, we admit. But did you read in the paper of any of those vital shortcomings? The light should have been thrown on these as it was thrown on the fire escapes, sanitation and the cereals suited for breakfast foods."

If the school is really 25 years behind the times it is because for that period we have been training our pupils for college life. Continued. To get a modern school, let us begin at the bottom and sever relations with the college. Since 1867 the professors of the committee had surreptitiously shaped the curriculum for college purposes. If the new plan of the pedagogical department calls for a separate model school, then its direction is inconsistent with the direction of the public high school.

Mr. LaFleur said that the district would lose nothing by the separation as the college authorities might be called upon to assist by their counsel. Regarding the question of the ownership of the building which would revert with the title to the land, he did not believe that the college would presume to confiscate it. "Do you suppose that they would be so mean, as dishonest, as overbearing," he assured the audience, "as to have the nerve and audacity to even say 'we will keep that building'? No, they are not that kind of men!"

The motion to adopt the resolution was endorsed with one faint "no". The chair appointed Allan Calhoun, Sr., E. C. Gorham and Dennis H. McHugh to take the preliminary steps for the amicable termination of the agreement and the ousting of the college from matters of district school interest.

The Register could not obtain a copy of the Kingsley report for publication for the benefit of those who were unable to attend the meeting and for the leisurely perusal by those who wished to review it for discussion. It would decrease our tuition, Mr. LaFleur said, if given to the newspapers.

After the vote on the resolution, Mr. LaFleur introduced Captain Jacobs of the U. S. Army who spoke briefly on the Citizens Training Camps. The many who left the hall, it being then 9:45 missed the only woman speaker of the evening, Mrs. L. J. Hallaway. Article VI of the Warning relative to the introduction of new business before the meeting had evidently been forgotten by the Chair and that lady quietly brought it to his attention. She obtained the floor moved that a committee consisting of three lawyers, Russell, Sturtevant and Burton be appointed to investigate and report at the next meeting the proposition of electing the school committee for a definite term of years, with privilege of reelection, instead of from year to year as now. When the vote was taken the moderator gave it to the nays, much to the dissatisfaction of many who thought that while the few who opposed the motion made a great deal of noise, hollering their "no", there was a large majority that voted yes. It was the lone instance when the "steam roller" was set in motion, although on one previous occasion during the meeting its readiness was obvious, namely when the women were boded upon the easy reelection of the Old Board.

It is the results they show on the diamond that makes the standing of a ball club, not the fine uniforms they wear. An advertising medium must be judged by the results it brings, not by its fine typographical excellence.

BOY SIZED FORTUNE IN GUINEA PIGS FOR COLLEGE LAB

WANTED Guinea Pigs. Telephone 124-Middlebury.

In comment on the above we want to whisper a secret to some ambitious youth who can see an opportunity when it is pointed out to him. That little advertisement is the cryptogram of a boy-sized fortune hidden on college hill. A pile of dollar bills, big enough to be the foundation of a college education, lies within easy access behind the doors of the Science Building if a wide-awake lad will but knock with the right credentials.

Now we would scrape together this easy money ourselves were we able to fulfill the simple condition essential to its gain. Circumstances however prevent us and we gladly waive our right of priority of discovery in favor of the first lad who listens attentively to our disclosure of our secret.

The open sesame to this fortune is pigs, live pigs, not like in miniature or guinea pigs, in a word of them with a hundred more in transit. Now we can't have the little porkers here in the print shop. The manager won't let us. Besides we have a tame squirrel that heaven knows is tax enough on our leisure. The proposition is simply this: the college biologists will need next year at least a hundred of the little porkers for dissection and other anatomical study. They have been obliged to send for their subjects to distant Chicago, paying high express rates in addition to the 75 cents per capita cost. It's too bad to let this good business go west. Let some boy invest his pennies in a pair of the guineas and they'll do the rest. With little work and small overhead expense the pig farmer can increase his business and perhaps, after supplying the local trade, sell to other colleges between here and Chicago. Prof. W. E. Longwell can explain further.

CORNWALL

Miss Emily Bugbee of Somers, Conn., is in town a guest of Miss Jessie Foote.

Eighty-five attended the Sunday School picnic at Lake Dunmore on Wednesday.

Rev. C. R. Hamlin and family are spending the week at the Charles Ous cottage at Lake Dunmore.

Builer Jones of Portland, Ore., a cousin of Mrs. H. E. Sanford and Mrs. M. R. Porter was a guest on Wednesday and Thursday at the Sanford home.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Squier, Mrs. Dan Wright, son and daughter of Hopkinton, N. Y., were week-end guests of their cousins Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Benedict.

Mrs. M. S. Betts

On Wednesday the body of Mrs. Mary Samson Betts was brought to town and interred by the side of her late husband William H. Betts. Mrs. Betts had reached the age of 90 years and was the last survivor of the family of Reuben and Mary Hurd Samson. Five nieces, Mrs. G. E. Constantine and Miss Hattie Porter of New York with whom she had resided for several years, Miss Alice Higgins, Mrs. S. V. Ford of New York, Mrs. A. J. Field of town, and one nephew William H. Porter and wife of New York and other relatives and friends were present at the funeral service which was conducted by the Rev. C. R. Hamlin, pastor of the Congregational Church.

Mrs. C. C. Gregg

Charlotte L. Carter Gregg, wife of Owen Gregg, died Saturday, June 25, after a brief illness at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Hoyt with whom they had recently come to make their home. Mrs. Gregg was born in Plattsburg, N. Y., December 19, 1840, a daughter of the late Samuel and Charlotte Lynd Carter. Mr. and Mrs. Gregg had lived for a greater part of their lives in Minnesota. Funeral services were held at the Hoyt home on Monday, June 27, the Rev. Gould, pastor of the Methodist church in Middlebury officiating. He accompanied them to Waterbury Center where the interment was made and where many of Mr. Gregg's ancestors lived and are buried. Mrs. Gregg is survived by her husband and one sister Mrs. Carter of Plattsburg, N. Y., who was present at the funeral, also Mr. and Mrs. Pike of Plattsburg.

Vacationists Lose Home by Fire

While Charles Purinton and family of Lincoln were visiting in Connecticut, their home was destroyed by fire Sunday morning. Neighbors who discovered the fire coming through the roof, were able to save only some of the household effects. The loss is at least $3,000 only partly covered by insurance.

Lightning Strikes Widow's Home

The home of Mrs. Cella Hunt on Mount Philo road in North Ferrisburg was struck by lightning Monday evening with considerable loss. Mrs. Hunt is a widow and lives alone. When the bolt crashed through the house she was so frightened that she has since complained of lameness and other soreness from the shock. At about eleven o'clock the lightning struck the chimney, tearing off bricks, a screen door, clapboards and melting the telephone wires in its passage out through the basement at the rear.

LIVESTOCK EXPERT WORKS IN COUNTY

Mr. H. H. Beier, Dairy Husbandman, Dairy Division, U. S. Department of Agriculture, recently spent two days in the County, assisting the County Agent, Mr. Beier's work is developing Cooperative Bull Associations, the advantages of which were explained at a meeting in Weybridge and to many individuals.

There are at present over 130 Cooperative Bull Associations in the United States and nearly all are getting the desired results, which are: the services of high class sires at a lower cost than by individual ownership. The sires are kept until their individual worth is proven by their offspring.

Several men were interested in this work in Waltham, Weybridge and Shoreham and there are good possibilities of developing this phase of the Livestock Improvement work in the County.
